GOVERNOR PASSIVE
Attention to Floggings in Other Parts of State
Now Started.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 13.—In an effort to test Governor Walton's suspension of the right of recourse to the writ of habeas corpus in Tulsa county, attorneys have filed in the state supreme court an application for the release of two men now reported held by military authorities at Tulsa, it became known today.

The application charges that the two men, G. E. Swift and Grover Sullivan, are being held without opportunity for a legal hearing and that the right of bail is being withheld.

Not only are the two men being held unlawfully detained in the national guard armory, but Adjutant General Markham in command of the troops, is seeking "by threats, intimidations and coercion to extract" testimony from them that would incriminate them with crimes and offenses committed against the civil authorities of the state," the application declares.

"Courts of justice have been intimidated by the military," says the application in explaining the carrying of the proceedings to the supreme court.

No date for the hearing of the application has been set.

Tulsa, Sept. 13.—An impasse was reached today in the negotiations between local business men and Gov. Walton for the lifting of martial law and indications pointed to the indefinite occupation of Tulsa county by state troops.

That the governor's terms would not be met appeared certain and, on the other hand, the executive displayed no disposition to modify his demands.

The question of the retirement of Sheriff Bob Sanford, Police Commissioner Kiskaddon and the county jury commission composed of J. W. Owen, Cicero L. Holland and Dr. O. E. Robins, all of whom the governor charges are under the domination of the Ku Klux Klan, was the rock upon which the peace exchange was grounded. Gov. Walton demands the resignation of these officials, holding that only upon their withdrawal from office can the local government be purged of Klan influence, which he alleges has been protecting floggers.

No Commission Named.

The business committee's announcement this morning was that no one had been delegated to confer with the officers. It was added that no one would be appointed for such a purpose. Sheriff Sanford, Commissioner Kiskaddon and the members of the jury commission declared that they have no intention of resigning. Gov. Walton planned to leave this afternoon on a hurried trip to Okmulgee, returning to Tulsa tonight to catch a train for Oklahoma City.

Attention in the state flogging inquiry turned to Shawnee where C. N. Reber, former major in the Oklahoma national guard, and Malcolm Couch, until recently chief of the Shawnee fire department are facing whipping charges.

In an information filed last night by County Attorney Clarence Hendon, Reber and Couch are charged with having engineered the flogging of Claude Cannon and Frank Cole, two taxicab drivers, on the night of March 10, 1922.

OPALHOMA CITY, Sept. 13.—State agents are investigating the reported whipping of J. M. Barnes at Coalgate, the flogging of a man at Altus Saturday night last and are preparing to begin an inquiry into 26 whippings in Pottawatomie county, Aldrich Blake, executive counsellor announced today.

MACMILLAN LAYS PILGRIMAGE PLAN

Council Masons of State and National Heads to Meet at Mount Moria.

On September 20, Council Masons of Oklahoma will hold their annual pilgrimage to Mount Moriah, about two miles from McAlester with an all-day session at which all Council degrees will be conferred, according to Edson A. MacMillan, Grand Master of Ada.

Great interest has been taken in this pilgrimage owing to the presence at that time of General Grand Master Fay Hempstead of Little Rock, General Deputy Grand Master Bert S. Lee of Missouri, together with at least five grand masters of surrounding jurisdictions, MacMillan stated.

In an interview with MacMillan he stated that the coming pilgrimage will be the greatest held in the state. "We have in Oklahoma near McAlester, the crypt devoted exclusively to cryptic Masonry in the word," MacMillan stated.

Assurance that a majority of the councils of the states would be represented with candidates, has been received during the past week, MacMillan stated.

"The event, as far as I know, is the only such affair held in the world," MacMillan said.

The history of the Masonic enterprise at Mount Moriah dates back sixteen years, MacMillan stated, when a group of enthusiastic York Rite Masons of McAlester conceived of the idea of building a crypt, a duplicate as near as possible to the crypt presumed to be under Solomon's temple. They have succeeded in the enterprise, MacMillan said, one structure being erected on top of the mountain and the other, the crypt, hewn out of solid rock under the main structure. The buildings are now complete and are in splendid condition for receiving the pilgrimage, MacMillan said.

Masons from as far north as South Dakota, south as far as Alabama, west as far as Arizona and east as far as Tennessee, have made reservations for the occasion.

Ada Council No. 10 will confer the Royal Masters degree at the pilgrimage. John H. Gardner, a prominent Ada Mason, takes the most prominent role in conferring the last of the council degrees, the Super-excellent degree.

OFFICERS WOUNDED WHEN THEY CLASH ON HIGHWAY

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 13.—One man is in a serious condition and another is suffering from wounds received when four officers engaged in a pitched pistol and rifle battle on the Galveston-Houston highway near here early today. Two prohibition agents attempted to stop an auto containing members of the Harrisburg constables office who mistook the federal men for robbers and opened fire.

Ada Day Claims Crowds At Fair

Ada Day was get-together day at the Pontotoc County Free Fair Thursday.

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon the business man put the padlock on his establishment and joined the farmer who had deserted his plow for a brief period to further weld the spirit of co-operation sought through the annual free fair here.

From the wee tot, who dangled a red balloon from one pop stand to the other to the pioneer who sauntered and chatted with his neighbor over the pedigree of a livestock exhibit, all seemed to radiate the spirit of good fellowship in a common association.

While the most impressive features to the casual observer was the large crowds who assemble to every corner of the fair grounds and found interest in every phase of activity offered by the sponsors of the occasion, the real interest of the multitude of visitors was found in the various lines of exhibits and livestock entries in which their interest should fall.

Reports from fair officials indicate that entries in the livestock department had exceeded all past records and had taxed all available facilities to accommodate the increased number of entries seeking prizes this year.

Entries in poultry had exceeded all past records in numbers as well as excellence of breed.

Exhibits of schools commanded a prominent part in the interest of fair visitors while the fine arts department claimed a number of exhibits of rare worth.

While the exhibit halls and livestock pens stood ready for inspection of visitors at all times while the fair part gates were open, visitors turned their attention to the auto races, a much-heralded feature of the fair. Races were scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock today.

Another special feature scheduled for today was a series of drilling maneuvers by the two Ada companies of Oklahoma National Guards at 5 o'clock.

GRAND JURY NOW ON PROBE GRIND

Witnesses Brought in From Union Hill, Homer and Egypt Communities.

The actual grind of the Pontotoc county grand jury called yesterday swung into form this morning at 9 o'clock when County Attorney J. W. Dean began the searching investigation of alleged lawless conditions in the county behind locked doors with twelve jurors named to carry the burden of the probe.

The grand jury went into session this morning after a recess yesterday when approximately thirty-five witnesses subpoenaed by the jury were being sought out over all parts of the county.

While the probe of the jury has not yet rounded into shape, the list of witnesses subpoenaed would indicate that the investigation would wax warm before the day ended and others are brought before the secret session.

While conditions at Roff were consistently mentioned as food for investigation in the grand jury charge yesterday, only two witnesses had reported in answer to subpoenas up to a late hour Thursday afternoon. By reason of only two witnesses coming from Roff at the present time, it is thought that the investigation of affairs at that place would be delayed until later during the session.

Witnesses answering subpoenas from Egypt and Union Hill lead to the belief that matters resultant from a row over the moving of a school house will be brought to the attention of the grand jury, much complaint having been made to officers at earlier dates.

Heavy Frost and Snowfall in Herald of Winter in North States.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Snow and killing frosts today swept the north and west and overcoats appeared on the streets while portions of the Central states shivered as the area of lowered temperatures spread.

Frosts were general throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas last night, but the extent of damage to crops was not determined. Government meteorologists, who said the recurrence of warm temperatures was unlikely prophesied hard frosts with snows that would cause injury to gardens and crops. Michigan and Minnesota saw the first snow of the season yesterday. In Duluth several flurries were plainly distinguished. At Calumet, Michigan cold waves off Lake Superior brought snow that continued for over half an hour. At Marquette reports were received of snowfall at Ishpeming which continued for a short time.

Chicago thermometers were close to the half century mark early today.

NO EXPLANATION GIVEN FOR DESTROYER WRECK

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Admiral Koonz, commanding the United States fleet, reported to the navy department today that no adequate explanation had been given for the unusual position of the seven American destroyers when they were wrecked off the California coast Saturday night. He declared the squadron was far off its prescribed course and was steaming in a fog at 20 knots an hour.

Officials in charge of the inquiry have been charged by the department to expedite any information bearing upon the causes of the disaster without waiting for the completion of the investigating board's report.

Secretary Denby was said to feel that the unusual features of the case necessitated special action.

OLD VETS PLAN ASSEMBLY HERE

Captain Crow Reports Plans
All Set for Reunion for Ada.

Practically every detail has been completed for the greatest reunion of Confederate veterans at Ada ever witnessed in the state.

Captain A. M. Crow, commander of the William Byrd camp here, declared that there would be no dull moments in store for former fighting men of the south when they step off the train here September 19 for their annual reunion.

Work is being rushed toward completion of the Legion Memorial hall so that veterans may assemble in Ada's new convention hall for their reunion addresses and committee meetings. While work on the interior of the structure is expected to be completed, delay in shipment of seats for the auditorium may force temporary use of chairs.

Captain Crow was especially jubilant over the prospects for one of the greatest parades ever held in the city. According to present plans Confederate veterans will head the line of march, Spanish war veterans will follow and then the American Legion with two companies of national guards and school children of the city in the parade.

Official announcement has been received at the local camp to the effect that approximately 300 veterans, their sons and daughters, would attend the convention.

Speakers in every instance have accepted invitations and will appear on the program outlined by the veterans.

OFFICIALS HELD BY GRAND JURY

Amarillo Officers Charged in Flogging of Railroad Worker.

(By the Associated Press)
AMARILLO, Tex., Sept. 13.—Sheriff Les Whitaker, County Attorney Henry Ford and four other men today are out on bond following the returning of indictments against them late yesterday charging participation in the recent flogging of E. T. McDonald.

The Potter county grand jury returned the indictments upon the completion of a two weeks investigation into the evidence of Texas rangers sent here after the flogging.

Officials today pointed out that the charges were misdemeanors and expressed the belief that Whitaker and Ford will remain in office.

McDonald, a railroad worker, was kidnapped while walking down the street by five men, taken to the county in an auto where he received a severe beating and a coat of tar and feathers.

The sheriff and county attorney were charged with misconduct in office. The other four men were charged with assault with a prohibited weapon.

STATE TO DECIDE ON WOMAN PLACE

Special Election Seeks Trend of State Voice on Office Holders.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 13.—Shall the word "male" be stricken out of the state law specifying requirements for holders of certain high state elective offices including the governor's chair? That is one of the questions to be decided by Oklahomans' ballots at the state special election October 2.

The purpose of the proposed constitutional amendment is to make women eligible for governorship of the state and for other state offices. The amendment, for adoption, needs a majority of the votes cast in the special election. It shall be adopted, according to the Ninth legislative resolution, if more than half the electors participating in the election make an affirmative answer.

Besides making women eligible for governorship, provided they can qualify otherwise as to citizenship age and being a qualified elector the proposed amendment would open the doors of seven other state positions which never have been filled by women.

A woman may not now become lieutenant governor of Oklahoma, but if the amendment is adopted that office no longer will be barred. The state treasurer's chair, which the constitution specifies shall be filled by a man, also would become within reach of any successful woman nominee.

The other state offices now closed to women which the proposed amendment would make available to both sexes include: secretary of state, state auditor, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, and state examiner and inspector.

The proposed amendment is to be submitted on the ballot with the interrogation immediately above spaces provided for marking the ballot, "Shall the proposed amendment be adopted?" The elector simply marks "Yes" or "No" in a space reserved opposite these words printed on the ballot.

Four other amendments to the state constitution will be voted upon at the same time.

Electors will be asked to accept or reject a soldier bonus for Oklahoma world war veterans; to authorize payment, by taxation, of depositors of defunct banks; to vote at least $15 state aid to schools; and to authorize industrial compensation for death.

STATE OF SIEGE THREATENS RULE OF SPANISH KING

MEETING OF CABINET

Barcelona Considered Hotbed of Revolutionary Move Against King.

(By the Associated Press)
MADRID, Sept. 13.—After a cabinet meeting today the following statement was issued:

"The captain general of Barcelona last night proclaimed on his own responsibility a state of siege in that district, seized communications and invited other districts to support his action.

"In order to explain this step he published a manifesto to the country declaring that the army has called upon the sovereign to save Spain and asking for the dismissal of the present ministry.

"In certain districts the military forces are disposed to concur in this attitude of rebellion."

The state of siege has existed in reality since 3 o'clock this morning and a censorship has been established under the military authorities.

Documents have been made public declare that legal proceedings already have been instituted against the foreign minister and the premier.

King Alfonso returned to Madrid this morning. The railroad station was surrounded by troops for his protection and every precaution was taken to keep unauthorized persons away.

Conditions in Madrid appeared normal today.

The army as a whole, it is declared, remains loyal to the government. The cabinet is remaining in session and the premier expressed confidence in its ability to stamp out the revolt.

The revolt centers in that hot bed of Spanish sedition, the district of Catalonia, with its populous capital of Barcelona. This has long been the center of Carlist conspiracies, a revolt seeking to restore the Carlist dynastic line to the throne. It also is the center of the separatist movement which seeks to make the great commercial area around Barcelona a separate state of Southern Spain free from Madrid as the center of Northern Spain.

BARCELONA, Spain, Sept. 13.—A state of siege was proclaimed at 11:15 o'clock this morning and the revolting military authorities took possession of the city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, including those of Madrid, Saragossa and Seville have adhered to the military movement which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'etat.

The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding. It is reported that Santiago Alba, the minister of foreign affairs, is under arrest in San Sebastian.

A communique issued by the military says that proceedings will be brought against the minister of foreign affairs and premier and that a government will be established under the military authorities.

The movement, the communique declares, is loyal to the king, being directed not against the sovereign, but the government.

Authorities of the new regime continued the proclamation, will occupy the headquarters of the communists and revolutionary associations, prisons, banks electric power stations and the points at which the water supply is controlled. All suspects will be arrested.

It also is declared that the leaders of the movement will seek to maintain the normal life of the country. The proclamation ends in an appeal to the patriotism of the population and entreating the military forces to give their lives to the country if necessary.

BARCELONA, Sept. 13.—The main telephone exchange here was occupied today by a band of men understood to be headed by Captain General Primo Rivero. It is believed that the movement will signalize an outbreak in other chief towns of Spain. Grave rumors were circulated in Madrid last night and the government held a hastily called meeting.

MADRID, Sept. 13.—Army officers at Barcelona have revolted and martial law has been declared. The rank and file of the army have joined the revolt but the navy personnel is quiet.

He Called on Thursdays

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(© 1933, Western Newspaper Union.)

ACCESS to his son on reasonable occasions had been construed as Thursdays. The first time John Hayward called Jimmy flew at him with open arms.

"Daddy, have you come back to live with us again?" he demanded.

It was an embarrassing moment. Mildred had gone to live with her rich parents. John felt humiliated when he called to see his son.

"Not just yet, Jimmy—but maybe some day," he said in a whisper.

He took the boy to the circus, and they had a glorious time together.

When he left him at the house Jimmy begged him to stay. That was the most embarrassing moment of all, because Mildred was in the hall, very pale, very haughty. She nodded to John disdainfully, and almost snatched Jimmy from him.

The second time John said to her: "This can't go on."

"Well, I was thinking that," Mildred answered.

"I guess it would be better to let him forget me."

"I was thinking that, too," she answered still more coldly.

After that John ceased to go there. He heard through mutual friends what was happening. There was another man in the case; that made the chances of forgiveness hopeless. John Hayward just tried to forget.

He knew the man, knew that he was a rotter—but of course he couldn't tell Mildred that.

Months passed; he moved to another address. One night he dreamed of Jimmy; dreamed he was calling him.

Next morning he was pacing to and fro on the opposite side of the street.

The maid came running out. "It's you, isn't it, Mr. Hayward? Thank God you're here! He's asking for you."

It was the critical day of an attack of typhoid. John Hayward hurried into the house. Mildred was coming down the stairs, paler, thinner, weary-looking.

"He's been calling for you these two days past," she said. "We've tried in every way to find you. The doctor says the desire is killing him. I—I never knew he cared for you so much."

Mildred looked at him with something like terror in her eyes. But John was already running up the stairs.

He was kneeling at Jimmy's bedside. "Jimmy, don't you know me? Don't you know your daddy?"

The child was unconscious. Hours, it seemed afterward, John Hayward must have knelt there. He was faintly aware of figures that came and went, of his wife, weeping beside him the mother and father, the doctor and the nurse.

"If he comes out of it he ought to pull through," someone had said. It must have been the doctor, of course. John Hayward was only vaguely aware that it had been said.

Many thoughts, the regrets of a whole life, passed through his mind as he knelt there. In that hour all the past was purged away.

Then, after eternities, the fluttering eyelids unclosed. The child was looking at him. He recognized him. Mildred ran to his side. She leaned over him.

But the child was looking past her. "Don't you know Mother, darling?"

"Yes, but—I want my Daddy."

John Hayward was holding the boy in his arms. What extravagant, absurd things he was promising him if only he would get well. They were to go to the circus every week; he was to have all sorts of toys, anything, if only he would get well. Would he?

"I think I could get well, if you won't go away again, Daddy. Will you promise never ever to go away again?"

"Why, I—I'll promise to come back often," stammered John.

Mildred stood beside him, her eyes brimming with tears. "Promise him, if you won't promise me, John," she said.

"You—you mean you'll—?" he began.

"I know you know. He—he was worthless, John. I've been wanting to find you and tell you. Promise him—"

"I'll come every Thursday?"

"No, that you'll never go away again, my dear," said Mildred. "You see, neither of us can do without you. We've tried it, and we know."

"I'll never ever go away again," John promised.

The Cat's Ruse.

Do you know why, when a cat is greatly startled or alarmed, its hair begins to bristle and stand on end? Those of you who possess a pussy of your own must have seen this happen again and again. Perhaps a puss is sleeping quietly on the hearth when a strange dog suddenly makes its appearance. Then what a change is wrought! Puss flies to her feet, every hair erect, and her tail bushed out until it resembles a fox's brush more than her own sleek appendage. It is thought probable that this ruse is tried by the cat in order to make itself look bigger and more alarming to its natural enemies, and thus it protects itself from animals which might otherwise harm it.

"Do you regard motion pictures as educational?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Stormington Barnes, "to some extent. A successful star has to learn a lot of arithmetic in order to count up his salary."

PHILANTHROPY AND SOCIAL UPLIFT PROGRAM OF FRATERNAL CONGRESS

FRENCH LICK

CHICAGO.—Expansion of philanthropic activities, inculcation of a spirit of greater brotherhood, elimination of commercialism, more co-operation and harmony and promotion of a better citizenship will be the program of the National Fraternal Congress for the coming year.

This was the statement of W. R. Shirley of Muskogee, Okla., vice-president of the Congress which will hold its twenty-fifth annual convention at French Lick, Ind., from August 27 to 30. Mr. Shirley, it is believed, will be elected president of the organization at this meeting.

"Fraternalism," said Mr. Shirley, "is faced with a challenge to fulfill its mission. We must return to the fundamentals of service and brotherhood to justify our existence. The work of fraternalism must be nationalized on the ideal that all men are brothers. Education and philanthropy for the uplift of all people are the means of bringing fraternalism back to its former place of influence and putting it on the road to greater things."

"We must dedicate ourselves more to the alleviation of human want and misery, to the conservation of childhood, the salvaging of the underprivileged, the care of the aged, infirm and indigent. We must co-operate more with the community, state and nation in campaigns of thrift, individual and public health and in the development of a more unselfish, vigorous and militant citizenship. The fraternal system of America has a membership of more than ten million. The potential power of such a group to render service is beyond calculation."

The National Fraternal Congress, Mr. Shirley pointed out, was organized twenty-five years ago and represents nearly every fraternal insurance society in the United States. It represents insurance protection estimated at $500,000,000.

men seized in the Bridgman raid was subscribed through "Labor Defense Councils" and the Miner's Relief Conference by such methods.

The author of the expose says that while Communist agents were appealing throughout the nation for "money for the relief of 'starving miners,'" they also were holding mass meetings to collect from these "starving miners" money to remit to the Labor Defense Council at Chicago.

Other correspondence alleged to have been seized by authorities in raids on revolutionary headquarters is quoted to show that the American Civil Liberties Union of New York City, of which Roger Baldwin is executive secretary, loaned the Communist money from the Charles Garland Foundation fund, entrusted to the union by the North Carver, Mass., man who refused to keep a $1,600,000 legacy inherited from his father.

How a considerable portion of money collected by the Communists in the coal regions was utilized is recited as follows:

"Efforts of the Communists to get control of the United Mine Workers have continued without interruption since the strike of last year. In the first two months of this year these efforts centered on making about an outlay strike on April 1; later to drive a wedge into the United Mine workers through advocacy of the expediency of government ownership of mines. William Foster, industrial organizer of the Communist International, has been at the head of the enterprise. The principal scene of action has been southwestern Pennsylvania. The Communist has been the miners' Keller Conference and the magnet for attracting the miners has been 'government' ownership of the mines."

It is pointed out that the union has not approved or adopted any plan for nationalization, although a committee to study the subject was appointed two years ago with instructions to submit a report and recommendations at the international convention next January.

Notwithstanding this fact that the union is seeking to reach a conclusion in an orderly way, the Communist organization has concentrated all of its resources to the end of forcing the union to acknowledge nationalization of the mines as the chief objective of coal workers in this country.

A conference of "Reds," whom the author names, was held at Pittsburgh last February 10, out of which grew a platform alleged to contain these plans:

"1.—Establishment of headquarters at Pittsburgh for an aggressive campaign to reorganize the miners' union in accordance with Communist doctrines; 2.—to bring about a general strike on April 1; 3.—To hold a convention of miners' delegates of the United States and Canada at Pittsburgh the first week in June, when would be launched a new international organization to absorb the United Mine Workers and eliminate its international and district officials."

An outstanding feature of this program, which failed of wide fulfillment, is alleged in the "expose" to have been the unauthorized strike of steel and coal miners in Nova Scotia which was ended only after the president of the Mine Workers' ousted Dan Livingstone, president and J. B. McLachlan, secretary of the district.

"FACE ON THE BARROOM FLOOR"

The Face on the Barroom Floor" the new William Fox special production will close its engagement at the American Theatre tonight.

"The Face on the Barroom Floor" is a twentieth century melodrama, replete with thrills, including the daring escape of prisoners from the state penitentiary and a thrilling storm at sea.

Henry B. Walthall heads the all-star cast of screen artists seen in the production, and he is ably supported by Ruth Clifford, Alma Bennett and others of equal prominence.

"The Face on the Barroom Floor" was directed by Jack Ford, who will be remembered for his staging of the other superlative William Fox attraction, "The Village Blacksmith." Ford has come to the fore rapidly during the past two years and has many successful screen plays to his credit.

Assassinated Premier of Bulgaria Hoarder of Small Fortune

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—Stamboulsky, the premier of Bulgaria who was slain last month during the reaction against the peasant government of which he was the leader, had a tidy sum of money hidden away for eventualities. The authorities have found $700,000, in his house in Sofia. He was generally reputed to be a hoarder, and is thought to have planted considerable money outside the country. Enslavers are being made to get this also.

Most of the cash found here was in Bulgarian currency, but among the collection were two American one dollar bills.

FORGED NOTE WINS NEW TRIAL

Miss Edith Lavoy.

A forged note sent William M. Creasy on his way to the death chair for the alleged murder of Miss Edith M. Lavoy, New York school teacher. Now the self-same note has won him a new trial. SOONERS FACING STIFF SCHEDULE

Cornhuskers Slated for First Battle of Year; Fourteen Letter Men Listed.

(By the Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 12.—The University of Oklahoma football team, with its personnel as yet undetermined and with less than a month of practice in which to assemble its gridiron machine, has given itself probably the stiffest assignment of any Missouri Valley Conference team. The Sooners begin practice September 15 and four weeks later board the train for Lincoln, Neb., to battle last year's champion Cornhuskers for the first struggle of the 1923 season.

Coach H. V. McDermott will have fourteen letter men around which to construct his football machine this year, if all of last year's letter men return to the university this fall.

These fourteen men, should they enroll and don uniforms, are by no means assured of regular berths on the team. Coach McDermott says. The coach is seeking the best material available and is overlooking no possibilities. All the 1922 freshman team members and last year's second varsity men have been urged by mail to appear on the field for first practice September 15. Fifty-one letters were sent out, according to the Sooners mentor.

Informal practice under the direction of "Peté" Hammert, 1923, Sooners captain, began several days ago but no regular coach until the valley conference training date, which is set for September 15 each year. On that date the mill starts grinding and the embryonic eleven assumes a more tangible character.

Uniforms are being issued and every man appearing on the field next Saturday when the coach takes charge of the work will be properly outfitted, it is announced.

Just what the prospects for individual players and for the 1923 O. U. team are will necessarily await the first week of practice for any prediction of passing worth, the coach says. The Oklahomans finished last year near the bottom of the valley standings.

The Nebraska game at Lincoln October 13 is the curtain raiser. The remainder of the schedule follows:

October 20—Washington at Norman.

October 27—Oklahoma Aggies at Norman.

November 10—Missouri at Columbia.

November 17—Texas at Austin.

November 24—Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.

November 29—Drake at Norman (Thanksgiving)

POOR CROPS HARD HIT TO GERMANS

City Dwellers Must Journey to Country to Buy Needs of Home.

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—Germany's food situation has reached what was called the "bagman" stage in the Russian collapse. City folks must now travel to the country and get their foodstuffs, unless they want to pay the exorbitant prices asked by food speculators.

Suburban trains are crowded by men and women carrying vegetables, milk, butter, meat and other supplies which local retailers in almost all German cities are unable to provide under present conditions. Farmers who have food supplies insist upon payment in foreign money. As retailers must sell for German paper marks, their business is at a standstill.

A well-dressed man who was walking along Unter den Linden carrying an expensive alligator case found himself recently the center of an envious group when his case burst open and potatoes rolled out over Berlin's most fashionable boulevard.

Berlin householders are already beginning to seek their winter supply of vegetables, and food scouts are traveling throughout the potato districts making contracts for families. Field workers' strikes and a cold, rainy spring—the coldest, wettest spring in some 200 years—have materially affected Germany's 1923 harvest, which otherwise would have been about the average, according to reports from the agricultural districts.

Potatoes, one of Germany's chief foods, and in many families fully as important as meat and eggs and milk, were set back by the cold weather, and prospects for the late crop are not at all encouraging, the agriculturists report. Germany has been importing potatoes from Holland and other nearby countries for months in efforts to relieve the shortage.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

HEAR, O ISRAEL:—The Lord our God is one Lord. And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. Deut. 6:4, 5.

MUSSOLINI, HUMAN VOLCANO.

Folks stand appalled before the cataclysm in Japan. Yet Benito Mussolini, the Italian premier, threatens the world with more harm than the earthquake did across the Pacific.

Fifty-six million soldiers took part in the World War; 7,553,600 were killed. And Mussolini, mad dictator of Italy, with less provocation and more haste than Austria in 1914, has set the world trembling on the brink of another war, only worse.

The eyes of the civilized world, now on Tokio, will soon be turned again on Rome.

Signor Salandra, at Geneva, speaking for Mussolini, gave as Italy's excuse for rushing into virtual war with Greece, "the brutal assassination" of five Italian officials on Greek soil, probably by Albanian, or worst, Greek bandits.

What about Italian warships firing into crowds of Greek orphans in bathing at Corfu, and into the refugee camp where half-starved Greek women and children were huddled, driven there by the butchers of Turkey?

Some 15 children were killed outright, mangled, by the Italian bombardment—which was utterly without excuse, as Corfu was entirely undefended. Speaking of "brutal assassination," which was that, Signor Salandra?

And so, with Mussolini's act of war against Greece, 20, 000,000 in Central Europe "stand by", ready for trouble. Anything may happen.

On top of this, Mussolini defies the League of Nations, Great Britain and France seem afraid to act.

Thus the one influence for good in Europe, the one big which sort of held Europe together and gave out a faint ray of hope for the future, goes by the boards—unless, by some miracle, the smaller league powers, acting together, can save the situation.

Europe today is in more danger than Japan. Politically Mussolini is an earthquake center which lays volcanic Japan in the shade.

And he seems just about as reasonable as a volcano. About all we can do is to cross our fingers, wait for the eruption, and hope for the best.—Oklahoma City News.

The goal of $5,000,000 set by the American Red Cross for the relief of Japanese earthquake sufferers has been passed, but later developments indicate that much more is needed to relieve, even partially, the distress of the thousands who are wandering about homeless and who are having much difficulty in keeping soul and body together. Many other thousands were injured and must depend on the generosity of others more fortunate to enable them to regain their strength. Hence, the Red Cross has decided to keep its books open a little longer in the hope that more aid will be forthcoming.

After living twenty-four years with a bullet imbedded in his brain, a veteran of the Spanish-American war dies in New York. The bullet pierced his skull in the Philippines campaign, and lodged where surgeons were afraid to remove it. The victim seemed none the worse. He worked regularly and was active in social and civic affairs. The bullet, of course, was the thing he feared most. Yet he died of acute indigestion. Usually the things we fear most are not the ones that inflict the greatest harm. McAlester News-Capital.

An airplane of aluminum but weighing 112 tons when loaded will be built in Germany for service between Hamburg and New York. It will carry 60 passengers and a crew of 20 men, also much mail. There'll be a dining-room, grill, writing-room, state-room, kitchen and crew's quarters. It sounds like Jules Verne and it gives us rather a startling glimpse of life as it will be lived in the future.—Ex.

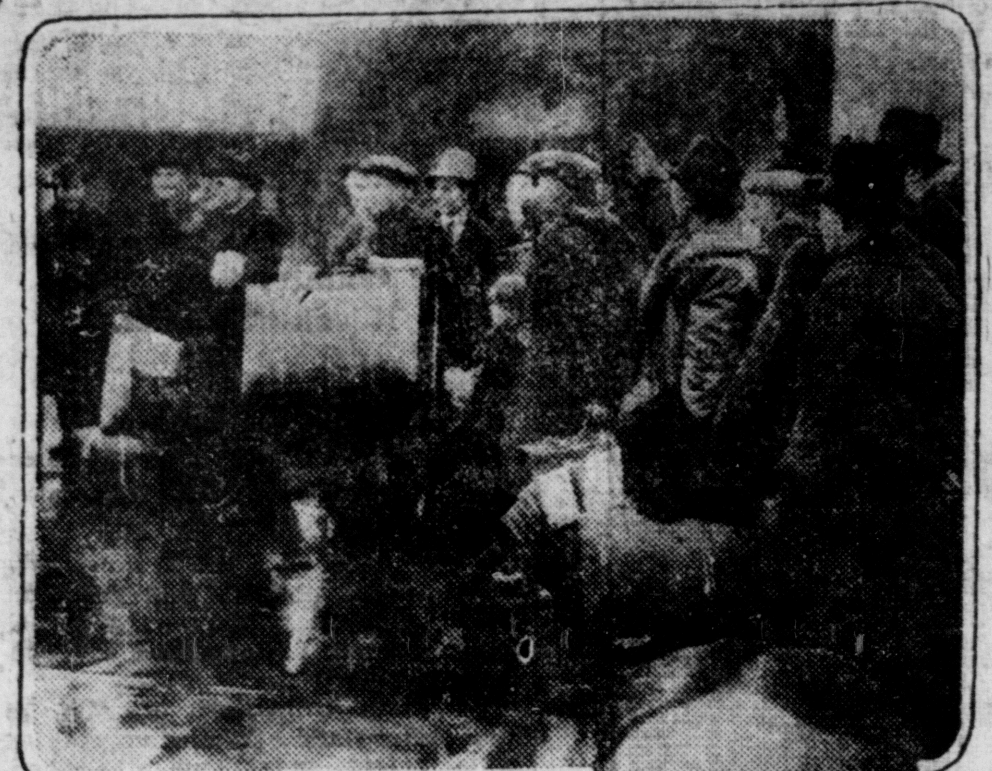

Oklahoma City dispatches indicate that Campbell Russell has won another victory. His initiated bill empowering the legislature to meet without a call from the governor being declared sufficient by the secretary of state. Unless the special election called for five other measures for October 2 is not held up Russell's bill must also be voted on.

A former anarchist leader of New York is now the commissioner of police of Petrograd, Russia. No doubt the police service of the city is something of which to be proud with a man like that at the head of it. And yet there are men in the United States who argue that this country should recognize Russia.

It is said that the 2,000,000 inhabitants of Oklahoma use around 37,000,000 pounds of soap annually. That quantity would clean a pretty fair sized area and indicates that Oklahomans believe in cleaning up.

The fellow who is constantly expecting his feelings to be hurt is seldom disappointed. Never any trouble to find something at which to take offense.

MACCABEES WILL USE FULL STRENGTH IN MOVEMENT FOR AMERICANIZATION

FUTURE AMERICANS AT ELLIS ISLAND

CHICAGO.—Combating radical propaganda, counteracting industrial unrest stirred up by foreign agitators and teaching the ideals of true Americanism to native-born and foreign-born alike is the patriotic aim of the Maccabees in their recently-launched Forward Movement. D. P. Markey, supreme commander of that fraternal organization, announced to an Americanization congress here.

"The Maccabees, since the inception of the order, have always stood for the best in citizenship," their Mr. Markey declared. "The Forward Movement is a manifestation of the Maccabean desire not only to be good citizens, but also to teach others with less opportunity of education or environment to be good citizens. With a strength of nearly 300,000 members and tens of thousands of sympathizers in all parts of the United States, a powerful influence for better government and community improvement may be brought about."

"Immigration is a most important question at this time and the responsibility for assimilating the newcomers and making them law-abiding, self-supporting citizens rests with those who have been privileged to live in America and enjoy American institutions. Fraternal organizations, such as the Maccabees, already perfected and functioning, are in an excellent position to take up this burden of Americanization. Immigration does not affect simply the ports of entry. It is a problem in every industrial community."

In addition to their work as pioneers of Americanization, the Maccabees are also attentive to the care of their aged, indigent and helpless members. A large and comfortable home for members of this order who can no longer help themselves has been established at Chatham, Pa.

The Shift in the Ruhr.
(Star-Telegram)

Weight of opinion financial rather than political points to an early progression from the stalemate that has existed in the Ruhr between French and German obstinacy. Business sources in the United States and in Europe for several weeks have been alive with rumors that Chancellor Stresemann gradually is being forced to a realization of the impossibility of the situation. The discussion has found its way into the cables in comment upon the German chancellor's speech at Stuttgart last Sunday when he exhibited pronounced symptoms of a shift in the direction of a French rapprochement. Berlin dispatches reporting a growing conviction that Germany is no longer capable of paying the terrific price involved in maintaining her passive resistance.

This trend of affairs, while it will not be pleasing to those who accuse France of imperialistic aims, perhaps furnishes the best encouragement for belief that a solution of the whole reparations problem is now more possible than at any time since the United States refused to take part in the functioning of the treaty of Versailles. The Germans are beaten in the Ruhr, however much they may squirm and although it is of little credit to France, it augurs well for progress of negotiations that shall clear up the debts difficulties, which is the most pressing need of the world at this time.

German capitulation into the Ruhr will make possible all the alleviating measures, heretofore denied by France. There is perhaps not enough in the triumph to induce the French to generosity, but it is entirely possible that there is enough of satisfaction for national pride and revenge to make Quai d'Orsay more accessible to arguments of expediency. And expediency is the sole ground upon which the French policy toward Germany can be assailed.

WIVES DIRECT TRAINING TABLES OF SCULLERS

(By the Associated Press)
DULUTH, Sept. 12.—No special staff of chefs is a part of the "training camps" of Walter Hoover, world's champion sculler, and W. E. Garrett Gilmore, Canadian champion, who are preparing for the Philadelphia gold challenge cup race here September 15.

The wives of both men preside over their respective kitchens. Training quarters are located in modest bungalows on Minnesota Point, directly adjacent to the rowing course on St. Louis Bay. Hoover has a summer home on the point within a few blocks of the boat house. Gilmore's staff includes Coach Frank Muller of the Bachelor's Barge Club, under whose colors Gilmore rows. Muller is head rowing coach at Harvard University.

The best course usually is right along the point, which extends eight miles to the Lake Superior entry to the harbor. Both men are working out on the stretch and frequently paddle across the bay to the mouth of the St. Louis river and 15 miles up stream to Fond du Lac, making a 30 mile round trip.

According to visiting oarsmen who have trained on the bay and connecting waters in preparation for the numerous northwestern and district regattas staged here, the local course is exceedingly attractive and most conducive to hard work. The water front on the west side of the bay with its grain elevators, coal and ore docks and other shipping facilities is interesting, while the scenery on the east side next to the point is equally attractive. Huge freighters and innumerable small craft form the background for constant activity in this, the second largest inland harbor in the world.

How Linit Brings Out the Dainty Freshness of Your Children's Garments

THERE isn't anything quite so charming as the crispness of your children's dresses, nor anything in which a mother takes more pride.

The trouble is to keep the little dresses looking fresh and dainty. One reason for this is that ordinary starch does not resist the dust or permit the fabric to stay clean.

That is why mothers welcome Linit, the remarkable new starch discovery.

Because Linit remains thin and free-running like water, it penetrates every thread of the fabric, and helps strengthen it, preventing wear, thus increasing the life of the material. Linit was originally developed for the use of the makers of fine fabrics, and is now for the first time available for family use.

For baby's dainty clothes, there is nothing that produces quite such a delightful effect as Linit—or gives such a fresh, spotless appearance.

Important To You

BE sure to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches—and why it is easier to iron with Linit.

Go to your grocer, ask for a 10c package of Linit and begin to use it for all fabrics. Perfection in starching guaranteed—or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the C. & G. Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Maroon Salad and Cooking Oil.

NEWEST OCEAN LINER ARRIVES IN N. Y.

Eighty Thousand Expected To Witness Firpo-Dempsey Fight For Fistic Honors

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—When Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion and Luis Angel Firpo collide in their scheduled 15 round contest at the Polo Grounds September 14, Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, expects the second largest crowd that ever witnessed a glove contest to be in attendance. The Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants and one of the biggest baseball plans in the country will be converted into a massive arena, with a seating capacity of approximately 80,000. The playing field will be covered with temporary seats around the ring which will be erected in the center of the diamond.

The greatest crowd that ever saw a boxing contest gathered in the pine bowl on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City, N. J., July 2, 1921, to see Dempsey defend his title against Georges Carpentier. Close to 93,000 persons were jammed into the great spaces of the bowl that day. The total receipts approximated $1,600,000.

Claims were made that his figure was exceeded a recent Willard-Firpo fight in the Jersey City arena, Rickard estimating the attendance was only 75,000 and the figures showed that the paid attendance was only 75,000 and the receipts $429,920.

The championship bout between Dempsey and Willard at Toledo on July 4, 1919, although seen by only 19,650 spectators, drew a gate of $452,522. This enormous rate was made possible because of the high price of the tickets. Ringside seats sold for $60, while the cheap seats brought $10 each.

The bouts held in the Yankee

Stadium May 12 of this year for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund attracted 63,000 persons who paid $890,000. In the principal bouts Firpo knocked out Jack McAuliffe, H. Willard knocked out Floyd Johnson, and Fred Fulton lost to Jack Renaulton a foul.

The first of the two contests between Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Lew Tendler, held at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1922, was witnessed by 55,000 with a gate of $367,852. But all records for a lightweight championship were broken when the same men met in the Yankee Stadium two months ago. It was estimated that about 60,000 persons paid close to $400,000 to see Leonard defend his title.

The famous battle of Reno, Nev., of July 4, 1910 in which Jack Johnson, negro holder of the heavyweight title beat Jim Jeffries into submission in 14 rounds was witnessed by 20,000 persons. Unusually high prices swelled the gate receipts to $270,775.

The fourth of July battle between Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons, fought in the boom town of Shelby, Mont., July 4, was perhaps the biggest financial failure in the history of championship glove fights. Due to the last minute turn of events, when the guarantee of Dempsey was not forthcoming, causing rumors that the battle would not be held, the attendance was held to approximately 12,500 with estimated receipts of $201,485. Dempsey's promised share alone was more than this sum.

Other famous ring battles that attracted large crowds, with correspondingly large crowdsgate receipts, follow:

Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan, attendance 15,000, receipts $162,760
Jess Willard-Frank Moran, attendance 13,000, receipts $152,000
Johnny Kilbane-Eugene Criqui attendance 21,000, receipts $62,500
Benny Leonard-Richie Mitchell attendance 12,000, receipts $136,400.

Benny Leonard-Jack Britton, attendance 26,000, receipts $130,200
Benny Leonard-Rocky Kansas, attendance 13,300, receipts $126,760
Johnny Dundee-Eugene Criqui attendance 33,389, receipts $134,416.
Georges Carpentier-Bat Levinsky attendance 12,120, receipts $120,000.
Jimmy Wilde-Pancho Villa, attendance 23,000, receipts $94,590.

THE LITTLE BUSY BEE SEEN AT STATE FAIR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—Special.—"How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour?" The answer to the old copy book question will be found at the seventeenth annual Oklahoma State Fair and Exposition, which will be held in Oklahoma City from September 22 to 29, inclusive.

One of the most interesting exhibits, both to city and rural visitors, is the apary department, where observatory hives of bees are shown all week.

These hives have glass windows, and inside the windows the bees can be seen swarming over the honeycomb and attending to their daily duties.

Row after row of honeycomb, strained honey, candied honey, beeswax and other products of the hive, together with exhibits of Oklahoma honey flowers are other phases of the exhibit.

Few persons are thoroughly familiar with the daily life of the bee, and the state fair provides almost the only opportunity to become familiar with the insect which provides one of nature's most delectable sweets.

The Apary exhibit is usually staged in the agricultural building along with county agricultural exhibits from the most important crop counties of Oklahoma.

ENID.—An electrical sub station, said to be the largest in Oklahoma, will be completed within three weeks, officials of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company predict. Fifteen municipalities will be served by the station, which soon will connect Enid with all the larger cities in the state and with Fort Smith, Ark.

Perhaps grass widows are so called because grass makes hay while the sun shines.

As summer passes, it has been conservatively estimated that electric fans have saved ten thousand mops here in Ada.

Scandal. There were muffled sounds behind the booth in the shoe department of a local department store and a girl's voice squealed—

"STOP!" No response. "Oh, please don't, mother said—" No response. "Oh, wait just a moment, please—" Still no response. "Let go this minute!" "One more yank lady, and we'll have a perfect fit in this shoe," consoled the clerk.

The one concurring advantage for the break-neck speedster is that he may hit the fence so hard providence may throw him in a soft plow field.

In this period of lax prosperity, many people mind other people's business because they have none to mind of their own.

FRANCIS.

Deputy Sheriff Hornsby and Constable Willingham captured a still three and a half miles west of Francis, ten gallons of liquor and 150 gallons of mash. They also captured four young men who were alleged to be operating the still and took them to Ada.

The deputy sheriff flushed a covey of choc peddlers and choc drinkers last week north of town and one of them ran over a lady's chicken coop and the lady is talking of suing the deputy.

The Francis township fair the 5th was a success in every way. The line of exhibits was never better in a fair here. The corn, cotton, potatoes, peppers, kafir corn, and canned fruits was very good for this year. The poultry was excellent and the live stock of all kinds show that the farmers here are very much interested in poultry and livestock raising.

The contractor has the walls of the Richey building almost complete and the roof will go on and the concrete floor will go in this week.

Since the rain and cooler weather your pencil pusher is feeling all right except morally, mentally, physically and financially.

The dwelling houses in Francis are killing up fast and it will only be a short time when they will all be full.

School begins Monday with a full enrollment and people are moving into town to send their children to school. Prof. J. T. Cunningham is the superintendent again this term. Prof. Cunningham made a successful year and we are hoping that he will do the same this term.

HOME FOLKS FINANCE SUPERB HOTEL AS WAVE OF CIVIC PRIDE HITS TOWN

First it was considered a huge joke, a colossal bit of drollery, this notion of Bedford building the finest hotel in America.

"It can't be done," shouted backward citizens.

"It will be done!" thundered the business men. And thereupon a campaign committee was formed. Flushed with civic pride the workers whirled into the task and in one week the half million dollar hotel had been financed by popular subscription. The unique achievement gave Bedford what is claimed to be the finest 100-room hotel in America. It stands today a challenge to the civic pride of all towns that want things but haven't the courage to get them.

Bedford, a prosperous town of fourteen thousand, nestles on the Dixie highway in a district of gently rolling hills, midway between Indianapolis and Louisville. It is a stop-over point for motorists. The town is also in the heart of the famous Indiana limestone quarries, which furnish 30 per cent of all the building stone used in the United States. Thousands journey there each year to purchase stone and to inspect the quarries. It was to properly care for the growing number of transients that the civic drive for the new hotel was started.

The new Greystone, operated by D. J. Landers, financier, and J. R. Dignan, former Chicago hotel man, is built of Indiana limestone. The interior is a study in quiet elegance, and the delicious cuisine would make any Paris chef turn green with envy.

"They said it couldn't be done and we did it," laughed the chairman, as the campaign workers finished their job. "In America civic pride means national progress."

Sparks and Brown Battle Ten Rounds to Draw When Firemen Stage Fight Card

In one of the scrappiest fights ever pulled in Ada Claude Sparks, local mit hurler, and Hamp Brown, state lightweight champion of Oklahoma City, mixed here ten rounds last night at the armory ring to a draw.

Beginning with the first gong and ending with the last, both fighters sent in every ounce of fight into the fray that would have a telling effect on the state light weight championship honors but the rugged Ada scrapper could not send in the punch that would place him at the top of the lightweight ladder.

The battle proved to be one of the well-balanced fistic engagements often mentioned in fight circles. Fighters exchanged punch for punch throughout the ten hazardous periods without changing the balance of their rating.

While much of the time was spent in infighting, there could be no question of the seriousness of intent on the part of both battlers for staggering body blows were sent in round after round in an effort on the part of both to weaken the giant capacity for punishment.

Both fighters used the instrumental left jab to excess, while wallops with the right came in seldom as a determining factor in bringing the battle to a sudden close.

At the opening of the first round, both fighters clashed without the customary feeling-out tactics and carried the round to a fast close. Open fighting followed in the next three rounds and which Brown brought his left jabs into play without serious effect on the battle scarred countenance of Claude. Infighting came into definite fight in the ensuing periods of the fray with Claude showing more points of advantage in infighting and a greater offensive.

Agreement Not Hindrance.

As a result of an agreement on the part of both fighters with Referee Cutler to the effect that should they be on their feet at the close of the last round and in fighting condition, the bout would be called a draw, no decision was awarded in the fight. Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of a few fans, Referee Cutler, stated Thursday that the agreement was meant to encourage the fighters in their exhibition and should either of the fighters be knocked out during the ten rounds and receive points demanding a decision, a decision would have been rendered. The ruling was made in case of a hair-line advantage claimed by either fighter.

While the agreement stood binding in case of a close margin on the part of either of the fighters, fans were generally pleased with the work of Referee Cutler, manager of the Coliseum Athletic club at Oklahoma City. Cutler showed a tendency to push the fighters during every moment of their activity in the ring and often warned fighters to mix things up a bit more. Cutler carried the respect of the fans in his services in the ring.

Good Preliminary Test.

A lively list of preliminaries preceded the main go between Sparks and Brown in which a flock of swift mits were hurled about the ring.

In the curtain-raising exhibition, Young Corbett, youngster, won a decision over Uley Gatlin, another youngster of smaller proportions but who showed exceptional skill for his weight.

Leber Streeter, while not being permitted to show his best licks during the few minutes of the first round before he knocked out Bob Weaver, shows the making of a coming wonder. His footwork and classy style of fighting gained the immediate approval of fans.

In the scheduled six-round mix-up of dark-town champions, Battling Siki bit the mat in the third round when Doll Gordon, his brown-skin opponent walloped him over three rounds of frantic boxing. Siki also received a knockout blow when he fell on his head in the ring after Gordon had punched him severely.

Fans showed their hearty approval of the five-round exhibition between Archie Cooper, state middleweight champion, and his trainer, Oscar Mortimer, Cooper and his trainer mixed things to the extent that fans were made to believe that the bout stood out as a serious affair. Mortimer brought out several advantages Cooper has gained during his training period.

The card was presented under the auspices and direction of the Ada firemen.

Old Folks Service at First Baptist.

The First Baptist church will have a service next Sunday morning in honor of the old people of the congregation and all other old people who care to attend. Special seats will be reserved for all old people seventy years of age and up and it is hoped that the public will co-operate in seeing that all the old people get an opportunity to come. If anyone knows of an old person who would like to attend and will phone J. C. Hynds, D. W. Swaffar, or the pastor, they will see that a car is sent on Sunday morning.

These old people will have charge of the music and will sing many of the old songs that their fathers used to sing. It is hoped to have a large number of them present. An invitation is also extended the public to attend the service.

The evening service will begin at the church at 7:45. The pastor will preach on the subject, "The Message of Calvary." This is the fourth sermon in this series that has been delivered.

DETROIT MAKING POLO HONOR BID

Eight Teams Listed for Competition in Mid-Western Matches

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 8.—With eight polo teams entered and two more expected, officials of the Detroit Polo club are making preparations for the Mid-Western Polo championship matches of 1923, here September 15-23.

Elaborate features are planned this being the first time the tournament has been brought to Detroit. The Southfield grounds scene of the coming matches, are being worked into immaculate condition assuring fast games. Clubs while already have entered representatives are:

Carranor Hunt and Polo Club, Toledo; Buffalo Country Club, Buffalo; Lake Shore Hunt and Polo Club, Chicago; North Shore Hunt Club, Chicago; Onwentsia Country Club, Chicago; Miami Valley Hunt and Polo club, Dayton; a Colorado Springs club, and the Gold Hats, of Detroit. The Grassmere Farm poloists of Chicago, who won the championship last fall, are expected to enter and there is a possibility a team representing the Sixth Army Corps area also will enter.

Although the stables of the Detroit Polo club can accommodate 60 polo ponies, six or eight tents will be erected to care for additional mounts.

The chances of the Detroit Gold Hats, runner-up team in last year's tournament, to win this year's championship received a severe setback with the injury of Leonard A. Young, captain and guiding spirit of the team. It probably will be a year before he again can play.

CHEMISTS WILL DIVULGE PROGRESS IN BREAD MAKING

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Revolutionary processes in the scientific baking of bread, drastic reform in the teaching of chemistry in the nation's high schools, elimination of waste in the manufacture of paper, and disposal of the sewage of the cities will, it is announced here, be discussed at a national meeting of the American Chemical Society to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., beginning Monday, September 10.

Problems of American agriculture and of the leather and rubber industries also will come up. The meeting, which will be attended by chemists from all over the United States and from foreign countries, will, according to officials of the society, herald amazing post-war advances in chemical science.

Featuring the convention will be two joint forums by the agricultural and food divisions of the society. One, with the industrial division, will be devoted to bread, under the chairmanship of Dr. H. E. Barnard of Minneapolis. The other, with the fertilizer division will discuss fertilizers and crops, the chairman being H. A. Noyes of Westfield, N. Y.
